Boogie Pumps in your school!

School dance clubs are a fantastic way to supplement curriculum teaching.

Boogie Pumps offers weekly lunchtime or after school dance classes that can help extend your pupils learning outside of the normal school day, helping children grow as individuals, whilst having a tremendous amount of fun. Not only will pupils build new friendships and skills but they will also increase their confidence and develop creative ability.

Pupils will learn new skills through dance and movement whilst improving fitness and flexibility.

Pupils will be taught the basic elements of dance technique through fun exercises and creative teaching practice, which aids their development and motor skills.

Pupils will work with their instructor to develop routines for performances if required and classes can be provided in many dance styles.

Our lunchtime and after-school clubs are flexible and can be tailored to suit the requirements of your school/pupils.

All students at Boogie Pumps are part of a big family and get invited to be in performances, camps, and parties.

Testimonials

“ My 4 year old daughter is quite a shy girl but in one term she has gone from crying when I left her at the class at the beginning to running in on her own and informing me that she wants to be in the end of term show! ”

“ Hannah has been teaching at our school for nearly two years now. The pupils have a wonderful time, they are more energised, more confident and inspired to try new things. The feedback from the children and the parents is always very positive, I encourage all our pupils to attend. ”
